We have done our best to compile up to date information for you.

If there is a business that is not listed please let us know.

If some of this information is incorrect please let us know.

Note: This information was accurate when it was published, but can change without notice.

Tips for being a good customer:

-Be prepared to speak Spanish or have things lost in translation- while Huatulco is a tourist destination many people do not speak English.

-You must ask for the bill, it will not normally be brought until you ask for it. An important cultural trait to keep in mind when dining out is that things move slower here. Chances are you'll spend some time waiting for your food and bill. Relax and try not to rush the service.

-Most restaurants will NOT do separate bills.

-In many parts of the world, tipping is considered unnecessary or downright rude. That's not the case in Mexico; you'll want to tip for good service. Tip 15% for average service.

-Nearly all restaurants and bars use filtered water, disinfect their vegetables, and buy ice made from purified water. Street vendors and market stalls may be less consistent.

-Think your omelet/steak/Caesar salad wasn't as perfect as it should have been? Don't head for your computer; instead, ask for the owner or manager and politely explain what's bothering you. Nine times out of 10 they'll be more than happy to remedy the situation on the spot without you having to trumpet your dissatisfaction to the world at large. Your casual critique of your less-than-perfect soup posted on TripAdvisor or Yelp can cause a restaurant to suffer hugely – and needlessly.

*** While all-inclusive resorts often state that gratuities are included, you should still tip.
